For He Believed in Free Silver and Said That the Single Standard Would Have a Ruinous

Effect on All Except Those Who Investments Yield a Fixed Return in Money, and the Goldbugs Now Call This Anarchy and a Whole Lot of Other Hard Names.

(From the New York Tribune, Feb. 8, 1896.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—The morning hour, having expired in the senate to-day, the silver bill came up for discussion, and Mr. Blaine (Rep., Maine) spoke as follows:

"The discussion on the question of re-coinage silver, Mr. President, has been prolonged, able and exhaustive, and I may not expect to add much to its value, but I promise not to add much to its length. I shall endeavor to consider facts rather than theories, to state conclusions rather than arguments."

"I believe gold and silver coin to be the money of the constitution—indeed, the money of the American people anterior to the constitution, which that great organic law recognized as quite independent of its own enactments. No power was conferred on congress to declare that either metal should not be money. Congress has, therefore, in my judgment, no power to demonetize silver any more than to demonetize gold; no power to demonetize either any more than to demonetize both."

"In this statement I am but repeating the weighty dictum of the first of constitutional lawyers. 'I am certain of opinion,' said Mr. Webster, 'that gold and silver, at rates fixed by congress, constitute the legal standard of value in this country, and that neither congress nor any state has authority to demonetize any other standard or to displace this standard.' Few persons can be found, I apprehend, who will maintain that congress possesses the authority to demonetize both gold and silver, or that congress could be justified in prohibiting the coinage of both, and yet in logic and legal construction it would be no more to show where and why the power of congress over silver is greater than over gold—greater over either than over the two. If, therefore, congress cannot demonetize, I am in favor of recoinage. If its coinage has been prohibited, I am in favor of ordering it to be resumed. If it has been restricted, I am in favor of having it enlarged."

"What power, then, has congress over gold and silver? It has the exclusive power to coin them, to regulate their issue, or to regulate their value—very great, very wise, very necessary powers, for the direct exercise of which a critical occasion has now arisen. However men may differ about causes and processes, all will admit that within a few years a great disturbance has taken place in the relative values of gold and silver, and that silver is worth less or gold is worth more in the money markets of the world in 1878 than in 1873, when the farther change of silver dollars was prohibited in this country. To remedy this, as though the facts and circumstances of that day were surrounding us, is wilfully and blindly to deceive ourselves. If our demonization were the only cause for the decline in the value of silver, then recoinage would be its remedy. But there are many causes. But other causes quite beyond our control have been far more potentially operative than the simple fact of congress prohibiting the coinage of silver. As legislators we are bound to take cognizance of these causes."

"The demonization of silver in the great German empire and the consequent partial or well nigh complete suspension of coinage in the governments of the Latin union have been the cause of the decline in the value of silver. I do not think the over supply of silver has been in comparison with these other causes, an appreciable influence in the decline of its value, because its over supply with respect to gold in these later years has not been nearly so great as was the over supply of gold with respect to silver for many years after the mines of California and Australia were opened, and the over supply of gold from those sources did not tend to the relative positions and uses of the two metals in any European country."

as money in Europe and America devoted really to the congress of the United States. If we act not with prudence, wisdom and firmness, we shall not only successfully demonetize silver and bring it into general use as money in our own country, but the influence of our example will be potential among all European nations, with the possible exception of England. Indeed, our annual indictment to Europe is so great that if we have the right to pay it in silver we necessarily cease those nations by the strongest of all forces, self interest, to aid us in upholding the value of silver as money."

"On the much vexed and long mooted question of a bimetallic or a monometallic standard my own views are sufficiently indicated in the remarks I have made. I believe the struggle now going on in this country and in other countries for a single gold standard would, if successful, preclude widespread dissent in the end throughout the commercial world. The construction of silver as money and establishing gold as the sole unit of value are I have a vain one effort on all forms of property except those investments which yield a fixed return in money. These would be enormously enhanced in value and would gain a disproportionate and unfair advantage over every other species of property. If, as the most reliable statistics affirm, there are nearly $7,000,000,000 of coin or bullion in the world, not very unequally divided between gold and silver, it is impossible to strike silver out of existence as money without results which will prove distressing to millions and utterly disastrous to tens of thousands."

"Alexander Hamilton, in his able and invaluable report in 1791 on the establishment of a mint, declared that 'to annul the use of either gold or silver as money is to deprive the quantity of circulating medium and is liable to all the objections which arise from a comparison of the benefits of a full circulation with the evils of a scarcity circulation.' I take no risk in saying that the benefits of a full circulation and the evils of a scarcity circulation are both immeasurably greater today than they were when Mr. Hamilton uttered these weighty words, always provided that the circulation is one of actual money and not of depreciated promises to pay."

"In the report from which I have already quoted Mr. Hamilton argues at length in favor of a double standard, and all the subsequent experience of the last high 90 years has brought out no clearer statement of the whole case than he has made. It seems most advisable not to attach the unit exclusively to either of the metals, because this cannot be done effectually without destroying the office and character of one of them as money and reducing it to the situation of mere merchandise." And then Mr. Hamilton clearly concludes that this reduction of either of the metals to mere merchandise "would probably be a greater evil than the fluctuations in the relative value of the metals, especially if care be taken to regulate the proportion between them with an eye to their average commercial value." I do not think that this country, holding so vast a proportion of the world's supply of silver in its mountains and its mines, can afford to reduce the metal to the "situation of mere merchandise." If silver ceases to be used as money in Europe and America, the great mines of the Pacific slope will be closed and dead. Mining enterprises of the gigantic scale existing in this country cannot be carried on to provide backs for looking glasses and to manufacture cream pitchers and sugar bowls. A vast source of wealth to this entire country is destroyed the moment silver is permanently demonetized as money."

"If we are to keep that tendency and bring the continent of Europe back to the full recognition of the value of the metal as a medium of exchange."

"The question of beginning anew the coinage of silver dollars has aroused much discussion as to its effects upon the public credit, and it is to be noted that Ohio (Mr. Matthews) placed this phase of the subject in the very front of the debate, insisting prematurely and illogically, I think, on a sort of judicial construction in advance by concurrent resolution of a certain law in case that law should happen to be passed by congress. My own view on this question can be stated very briefly. I believe the public creditor can afford to be paid in any silver dollar that the United States can afford to coin at all interest."

"We need both gold and silver, and we can have both only by making each the equal of the other. It would not be difficult to show that in the nations where both have been fully recognized, the most widely diffused, the stoutest and most continuous prosperity has been enjoyed—that true form of prosperity which reaches all classes, but which begins with the day laborer, whose toil pays the foundation of the whole superstructure of wealth. The exclusively gold nation, like England, may show the most massive fortunes in the ruling classes, but it shows also the most helpless and hopeless poverty in the huddled walks of life. The gold and silver nation, like France, can exhibit no such individual fortunes as abound in England, but it has a peasantry that, with their silver savings, can pay a war indemnity that would have beggared the gold bankers of London and to which the peasantry of England could not have contributed a pound sterling in gold or a single shilling in silver."

"The two metals have existed side by side in harmonious, honorable companionship for money ever since intelligent trade was known among men. It is well nigh 40 centuries since 'Abraham weighed to Ephron the silver which he had taken in the hands of the sons of Heth—400 shekels of silver—current money with the merchant.' Since that time nations have risen and fallen, wars have disrupted, dynasties have changed, but the fact has been forgotten, yet have been made, that the two metals have been made in the soil, and through all these ages and through all these changes silver and gold have retained supreme as the representatives of value, as the media of exchange. The demonstration of each has been attempted in turn, and sometimes the detraction of both, but always in vain."

"This is the hand of a man destined to rise in the world. His success lines are marvelous. But they are of such a nature as to indicate that he will live after death. He is determined, persevering and ambitious; has great force of character and splendid will power. He will live to an advanced age, and will be beyond 80 years, but will die suddenly. By the lines in his palm he shows a strong predilection for naval warfare, and he has the dogged determination to succeed in a most arduous undertaking. He knows well his own power, and he is among men, has plenty of tact, but does not know how to use it. He is of great physical strength and enabled to endure many hardships without an outward sign. His personal magnetism must be great. He should be a great and convincing orator. He has the power to make friends and to hold them. His own views, however, are the ones to which he pins his faith."

"Long periods of success appear to await him in this life. His success has been upward and will be continued. It looks as though he will be the victor of some great crisis, and all the signs are favorable."

"His character is straightforward, honest and true, and his head and his heart lies meet at the best possible point. His business career has been a success. His relations have always been most pleasant. He is a happy though discontented man, his chief concern being for the masses rather than the man. What ever present undertaking he is engaged in he carries out more than equal for his success." —New York Journal.

"In this great country of ours the only thing that has advanced in value the past 20 years is gold. The goldbugs say that all other productions of the soil are in a state of overproduction. Only one thing has been overproduced during the past 20 years, and that is debt."

An imprint of the hand of William Jennings Bryan was shown to the eminent palmist, Mrs. E. L. King. She knew nothing as to how the imprint had been made, or when it was made, or a reproduction. In two hours, however, she had finished her reading, in many ways a remarkable one. It follows:

Senator Stewart denies that Mr. Bryan has been employed by a syndicate of bonanza owners to make free-silver speeches and demands that Senator Thurston, who repeated the allegation, should make the proof. Mr. Bryan, on his own behalf, says he will make denial at the proper time. A Chance to Make Money.
I have horser, grapes and peaches, a year old, fresh as when picked. I use the California Cold process, do not heat or seal the fruit, just put it in cold, keeps perfectly fresh, and costs almost nothing; can put up a bushel in ten minutes. Last week I sold directions to over 120 families; anyone will pay a dollar for directions, when they see the beautiful samples of fruit. As there are many people poor like myself, I consider it my duty to give any experience to such, and feel confident any one can make one or two cents out of a bushel of fruit in a few days. I will mail sample of fruit and complete directions, to any of your readers, for eighteen two-cent stamps, which is only the actual cost of the samples, postage, etc. to me.

The silver wave is gaining strength in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Does anybody in this town accuse Dr. Newsum of being a Democrat?

The Democrats swept everything in Alabama. So it will be in November.

Is somebody will denounce this weather they will never hear a kick from us.

It is said that Senator John R. Gordon, of Georgia, has come out in favor of the Chicago ticket.

Out at Garfield, herefore a Republican stronghold, it is said the people are turning to silver.

It is said that Dr. Newsum's long association with Rich Mattingly is having its effect in this campaign.

Hos. J. G. Shanklin, one of the most prominent Democrats of this county, said that State will go for Bryan and Sewall.

The "Texans" is moving about 100 cars of corn a day from the West for export. It keeps all their engines and men a moving to do it.

Jefferson had the same things to contend with in his time that Bryan has today. But he overcame them. He was like Bryan will do. The people are with him.

President Cleveland has never said one word in opposition to the Chicago ticket. Neither has he said anything favorable to an other ticket favorable to sound money.

We are told that the banks throughout the country came to the relief of the treasury lately and furnished enough gold to replenish the gold reserve. Why didn't they issue more bonds?

Dr. Newsum says his party has the money, the intelligence and the industrial power on its side. But there's one thing it lacks and that is the voters. It's the voters that count in this contest.

The neighborhood of Jolly's Station, this county, is one of the strongest silver sections in the county. It is said that there are not a dozen gold men in the neighborhood, while those who favor silver number a hundred or more.

The Democratic voters are using all their wits to get up another convention soon about to fall in the county. Only a few of the leading sound money men oppose the Chicago ticket and these do not favor another ticket any too strong.

When the Hon. Charles Bronston comes to this county in September to talk about the silver dollar, he will have the largest crowd to hear him that has assembled in the county for some time. Mr. Bronston is an orator, and a fluent public speaker.

"If the silver people win, I believe there will be such a revival in business, such a booming in industries, which are now inactive, and such a general shaking up of commercial interests that the country will be sure to prosper."—Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage.

We print in another column the call of Dr. R. L. Newsum, Chairman of the "McKinley Aid Society." He wants Democrats to meet him at Hardinsburg next Saturday, but there'll not be one of them. Breckenridge Democrats are not made that way.

If you do not take the News yourself, haven't you a friend that you can send it to, anyhow until after the election? The present campaign is one of profound interest to the people, and they should study and vote for such legislation as will be to their best interests.

That was a magnificent Democratic meeting held in Louisville last Saturday night. It was an outpouring of the people such as Louisville never had before. Louisville is a Democratic city and is for free silver and she will give Bryan and Sewall 100,000 majority in November.

The lawyers of Lebanon have passed a resolution imposing a fine of $1 on any one of their number who breaches the subject of the currency question in connection with the Democratic proposition was made by a lawyer out at Hardinsburg, but it wouldn't take worth a cent.

By what authority does Dr. R. L. Newsum take the name of Democrat and proceed to call out Democrats? The genuine Democrats of this county have long since held their convention and nominated their men and are fighting for their election. Dr. Newsum is a bolter and he can't deceive the people by saying he is a Democrat.

The Treasury of the Treasury has just issued a fifty-four-page pamphlet in which he practically admits that he has had to issue during the last two years $282,215,400 of government bonds to keep up the gold standard. Do the people of this country want a standard that costs them so much to keep? And this costs them as much as money?

C. H. H. H. H.

Dr. Ben Harrod, of Constantine, will support Bryan.

Was the silver sentiment has taken hold of the people right at the home of the Republican candidate for President have they not reason to be alarmed over the uprising?

It is very easily to be understood that another loud issue would be disastrous to the gold men and their candidate for President if it had been made. But they will not issue any more bonds now. The money men of Wall Street and McKinley's campaign managers have settled that.

There will be no uncertainty about the result of the race for Congress in this county. It is a case of choice of the Democrats and being a county man he will not lose a single vote. He is so well known that it seems hardly necessary to comment on his fitness for the place. Those who know him, at home as well as abroad, recognize his superior qualifications for the position of a Congressman. The only trouble he will have will be getting sufficient support from other counties. He has been assured, however, that he will carry five counties in the district and these ought to win him the nomination.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional treatment. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running, sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be impaired for ever; which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Threshing Out—Putting New Roof on School-house—Will Medley Owner of a Hen, that lays Two Eggs a Day.

Wm. Burch went to Brandenburg Friday.

Threshing is about over in this neighborhood.

H. L. Rhodes and W. W. Miles went to Brandenburg Monday.

J. T. Collins and wife, of Flaherty, spent Friday at J. M. Tindley's.

Mr. Buckler and daughter, Miss Eva, spent Sunday in Garnettsville.

Miss Ethel Farleigh, Garnettsville, is spending a few days with Dora Funk.

G. R. Miles and Bob Hardesty went to Anderson Saturday to the picnic.

John Funk and wife spent Sunday in Garnettsville, the guest of C. H. Lane and family.

Tom Hamilton and son, Will, and Sheriff Hagan, of Brandenburg, were here Thursday.

Mr. C. H. Bunker, of near Henderson, is visiting her mother-in-law, Mrs. Eliza Bunker, who is quite ill.

The trustees are having a new roof put on the school-house, which will add much to the looks when completed.

Will Medley has a hen that lays two eggs each day, in the last six days she has laid twelve eggs, can any one beat it?

Snag Shole at the Gold Standard.

In all the world, in exchange or available for exchange there is less than a drop point (12 ounces) of silver at any one ounce of gold.

Free exchange of silver at 10 to 1 is there at a rate in exchange rather favorable to silver in comparison with gold.

The "sound" money advocated by the goldbugs is simply sound in the sense that it is a strong vibration in the money. The phrase does not mean honest money, for a high priced dollar is just as honest as the dollar which is a low priced one is to the creditor.

A dollar whose purchasing power is limited to 100 cents' worth of commodities when the debt was contracted, but demands 50 cents' worth when it is paid, has discarded honesty and turned dishonest.

The debtors of the country are quite willing to discharge their obligations by the payment of money that is worth as much as it was when their obligations were incurred. Some of the creditors want the obligations cleared with money worth 50 per cent more.

In our gold reserve which a sacred thing as those interested in maintaining a gold standard pretend it is not. Would the country go to immediate and irretrievable snafu if there were no gold reserve?

To both questions the answer is decidedly No. It is a fact that the country is rich in credit to its high prices, which drive a trade, alternately supplying it to the creditor and the debtor.

It costs the United States $125,000,000 to maintain the fiction that our country is on a gold basis.

It is nonsense to say that the institution of free exchange by the United States would be a strong vibration in the money.

The silver coin of Europe and all the silver plate of the world. The silver now in circulation as currency in Europe is all needed where it is, has all been coined at the high rate of from 15 to 18 to 1, and is not a strong vibration in the money.

It is impossible to suppose they would send it to the creditor and the debtor.

And so for the exchange of silver plate, no matter what it was once bought for, it would be at any time under a free coinage to the creditor and the debtor.

The cost of artistic and mechanical labor upon it added, and could not be reproduced for less.

BRANDENBURG.

Mrs. James Fairleigh Sick—Visitors By the Score—Miss Mary Malla Dead—Picnic at Sebastian Grove the 22.

No preaching in town last Sunday.

Miss Jesse Herndon is spending a few days at home.

Miss Lela and Minnie Hlad are visiting in Louisville.

C. M. Nevitt went to Louisville last Friday on business.

Roy Wimp and Miss Kitty Clarkson spent Sunday in town.

Teachers' Institute in session—program interesting. Attend it.

Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Neafus went to Louisville last week for a visit.

Mrs. Dr. Wells has been sick for ten days or two weeks—acute neuralgia.

Thomas Hodge of Henderson, is here to see his aunt, Mrs. Minnie Phillips.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Wether, of Ekron, were guests of Mrs. James Bland last week.

Miss Daisy McIntire and Ora McIntire have very high fever and are quite sick.

Miss Jessie Jolly, a sweet, pretty Owensboro girl, will return home this week.

Jesse Malla came from Vine Grove to attend his aunt's (Miss Mary Malla) funeral.

Dr. W. B. Ensey and a friend, of Louisville, are enjoying a stay at Dr. C. Pusey's.

Miss Sallie Fullenwider is with her friends, Mrs. Gough. Miss Sallie is looking well.

Little Pauline Fowden and Miss Ada Brown have returned from a pleasant visit to Cloverport.

Mrs. Dan Flora and children came down from Lakeland to attend the funeral of her sister, Miss Mary Malla.

Miss Mary Alexander, a very handsome young lady, of Louisville, is visiting her brother, Ed F. Alexander.

Mrs. Sallie and her children will return to Louisville this week.

Miss Jessie Jolly, of Owensboro, and Nora Henderson, Irvington, are visiting Miss Eleanor B. Hendrick and Lillian Hagan.

C. M. Nevitt and Jim Bondurant will give a picnic at Sebastian Grove the 22nd. Many attractive features and a ball at night.

There's a mid-sumer wedding on the tapis. The National press is full of it.

She's a sweet, sweet girl and next week I'll tell you all about it.

Mrs. Fyrmire, of Union Star, has been with her son, George, who is recovering from fever, Mrs. Fyrmire has been in the city for a few days.

Mr. Albert S. Johnson has bought out Jo A. Parker's interest in the Free Republic. Mr. Parker's valedictory address was as long as well as Mr. Johnson's salutatory.

Bud Clarkson and his sister, Miss Lilly, of Big Springs, were guests of Miss Peggy Ditts last week and attended the school supper. Lilly has that same sweet comeliness as well remembered in dear, sainted Fannie, towards those she loved.

We will all agree with Bob's, G. Ir. Gersoll and Chas. M. Dewey in their commendation of the exhibition of the Lion quintuplets. It is repulsive to all people of refinement and delicacy of sentiment and those who flock to see them are in the same category.

Mr. Editor, I don't know how it affects you but it is painful to me to think of the Democratic party going under two names. I don't know how hardly the party got together again after the Douglas, Breckenridge, Lincoln ticket and I cannot see through the mist now.

Chas. Nevitt went to Owensboro last Sunday night to assist in arranging the new catalogue for the new school to be opened there September first. Charlie will be one of the faculty, to instruct in telegraphy, shorthand and bookkeeping.

Chas. is intelligent, efficient and president, kind and agreeable. He should go to the top in his chosen work.

Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Fairleigh spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis and came to be with Mrs. James Fairleigh who is still sick. Mrs. David Fairleigh ran in for a "howdy and good-bye." She was looking bright, happy and young and says Louisville, in the residence part, is equally as pleasant as on these hills where breezes are supposed to come and go with.

The ice cream supper by the hand boys was a success. The entertainment of the intense heat a cool subject was the objective. Our Sunday Hill friends showed their appreciation by coming in a body and we enjoyed leaving them fully as much as they in attending. Mr. Will Ashcraft auctioneered the cake from gold standard—It all went.

I have carefully considered all that our Sunday Hill friends and Mrs. Fairleigh, of Louisville, have said about the News and this column but should I publish same the Editor might become impatient if it is not all said and said in full in relation on any subject. Do you agree with me, dear Mr. Editor? Perhaps not, so I will let it rest for a while and I'll publish all the nice things about our paper.

Vanity Fair was full to the brim last week and overflowed. Every night was taken—two shows, French and Paris. Photograph on hand, super, layette to Cedar Grove and all small assemblies. Everybody looks snatched, everybody napping and snoring, all the onward march for pleasure continues unabated. Launch dry hills run high especially if the low-lands low linen and grass linen with are done not to speak of white ducks.

Miss Mary Malla died last Saturday at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Tom Howard. Miss Mary has been in failing health for some time. We knew she was to go, but still, as ever, death came unwarned and, with wondrous power affected the hearts of all. Deceased was a member of the Methodist church and lived a life to set before the beautiful traits she professed. Peter sang, "My flesh shall rest in hope." The same can be said of all pious dead and given the full meaning of the text in force—beauty of the original. Miss Mary's pure, holy (as pure as spirit) in the gates of Paradise rests in hope. She was buried from the Methodist church where Bro. Cindrich preached her funeral and her remains interred in the Brandenburg cemetery.

BEWLEYVILLE.

Abundance of Fruit—Visitors From Abroad—Party Vist Sulphur Springs—Hon. Chas. Bradford's Vineyard.

Tobacco is ripening, and some people have begun to cut.

Plenty of fruits of all kinds, grapes in abundance, living cheap.

Mrs. Adolphus Jordon, and daughter Miss Clara, continue on the sick list.

Dr. Lon Moorman, of Brandenburg, visited C. H. Drury a few days last week.

The very dry, warm weather has continued until we fear we are to have a drought.

Minnie and Ada, children of Z. T. Smith, have been quite sick during the past week.

Mrs. J. D. Jordan and some friends, of Glasgow, county, are visiting relatives and friends.

Quite a number of people from this community attended the Freedom annual meeting, Aug. 2nd, seen 'th through much tribulation to go now in heat and dust.

Hon. Chas. Bradford has the finest grape vineyard in all the country. The vines are full and he seems to enjoy raising it. He is a "help yourself," besides he often sends out a basket full.

Two parties of young folks spent Thursday last at Sulphur Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cox and children betook themselves to the same place Tuesday.

This seems to be a favorite place for resort for those "on pleasure bent."

Very pleasant was the carpet-laying at W. H. Cain's, Sr.'s, Tuesday, Aug. 5th. We note that all did participate in the service, especially the gentlemen. Our particular friend was present, and it was really inspiring to watch him work.
